

Granite Landing

Granite Landing was built in 2013 and consists of 100 units. Located in southwestern Oklahoma in Elk City, the property is proximate to several local retailers and businesses and presents a rare opportunity to enter a new market within Oklahoma. Elk City has a diversified economy consisting of corporate and small business owners. Their cost of living is consistently below the national average at 86% and, coupled with their varied economy, residents in the region enjoy the benefits of more economical growth.

Elk City is known for its rich history, Route 66 connections, and festivals that go year-round. Some notable attractions and entertainment that bring visitors and residents back every year include the PRCA Rodeo of Champions, Ackley Park, National Route 66 & Transportation Museum and the Elk City Speedway.